

Dan Worley is a lifelong resident of Latimore township and was a public school teacher for 32 years. Now retired, he taught in the Northern York Co. School District, with an emphasis on science. After graduating from Messiah College with a B.S. in Biology, Dan received a Master's Degree in elementary education from Penn State. His wife, Karen Worley, who is a graduate of Wilson College, taught music for 35 years in the same district. Karen retired from teaching and is an organist and a member of the organist's guild. Dan and Karen have two sons, Daniel and David, who are both graduates of the Dickinson School of Law with offices in York Springs and York. Both Daniel and David have spent many hours designing this website free of charge to the township. Dan's family has done extensive traveling throughout the lower 48 states and Alaska, visiting many of our national parks and historic sites. Dan has also traveled to England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, and Italy. Dan's hobbies include hunting, fishing, drawing, making stained glass objects, woodworking, gardening, growing fruit, raising wild turkeys, bee keeping, and playing the musical saw and 5-string banjo.

Kevin Kauffman is originally from Chester County where he was born into a dairy farming family.

He graduated from Lancaster Mennonite High. He and his wife Sara, along with their children, moved to Latimore Township from Lancaster County in 2016.
